

Health and Safety, Behavioural Change and Environmental Specialists

Who we are

Sphere Safety Ltd has been operating since 2003 providing partnership to organisations with a focus on best practice health and safety management rather than just compliance. Sphere Safety Ltd was formed in 2003 as a Carter Holt Harvey business and has since been purchased by the management team. The team of consultants are health and safety professionals have many years experience in health and safety over a range of industries in Australasia.

The concept behind Sphere is the sales and marketing of internationally developed best practice tools and systems which have delivered client companies world-class safety performance. All of the systems are proven in high risk work environments. We put a strong emphasis on listening to, and working with, our clients, in order to identify and focus on practical solutions to health and safety challenges in the workplace. Our partners have an utmost dedication to the elimination of work-related illness and injury in the workplace. We have seen and been involved in the tremendous decline in workplace incidents in our own work areas during the past decade, including a number of traditionally high-risk operations and businesses which are now tracking at a zero injury rate! We therefore strongly believe that any workplace has the ability to achieve a zero injury rate!
